The Office of the Indiana Attorney General ("OAG") has reasonable cause to believe that you may be in possession, custody, or control of documentary materials or may have knowledge of facts that are relevant to an investigation being conducted to determine whether the Seymour Police Department ("SPD") is in violation of Ind. EXHIBIT A
Instructions

1. You are requested to produce all responsive documents or things in your possession, custody, or control, regardless of whether such documents or materials are possessed directly by your staff, officers, agents, employees, attorneys, investigators, or representatives.
2. The requests for production shall be construed as broadly as possible to include all documents that may conceivably fall within their scope. Whenever appropriate, the singular form of a word shall be interpreted in the plural, and the plural in the singular, to give the requests the broadest possible scope. The terms “and” and “or” shall be construed either disjunctively or conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of these requests any documents which might otherwise be construed to be outside their scope.
3. The fact that a document is produced by another party does not relieve you of your obligation to produce a copy of the same document, even if the two documents are identical in all respects.
4. For any document withheld on claims of attorney-client privilege or any other privilege or work-product protection, that document need not be produced, but with respect to each such document you shall provide the following information: (1) the type of document (e.g., letter or memorandum); (2) the date of the document; (3) the author(s) of the document and each and every other person who prepared or participated in the preparation of the document; (4) a description of the document’s subject matter and physical size; (5) all addressees or recipient(s) of the original document or a copy thereof, together with the date or approximate date on which such recipient(s) received said document; (6) all other persons to whom the contents of the document have been disclosed, the date of such disclosure, the means of such disclosure, and the present location of the document and all copies thereof; (7) each and every person having custody or control of the document and all copies thereof; (8) the nature of the privilege or other rule of law relied upon to withhold the document and any facts supporting the claim of privilege; and (9) such other information as is sufficient to identify the document, and, where not apparent, the relationship of the author, addressees, and recipients to each other.

5. If an objection or claim of privilege is made with respect to part of a document, the part shall be specified and an inspection permitted of the remaining parts. If you object to the production of a document on the basis of a claim of privilege or work-product protection, produce all portions of the document that are not privileged or work-product.
6. Documents should be produced as they are kept in the usual course of business or they should be organized and labeled to correspond with the responsive request for production. Each document should be produced in its entirety, including any attachments. No non-privileged material should be redacted. All documents should be Bates-stamped.
7. Responsive electronically-stored information (“ESI”) shall be produced in single-page PDF format with the exception of Microsoft Excel spreadsheets, audio files, video files, and database-type files including, without limitation, Microsoft Access – which shall be produced in native format.
9. When instructed to produce “documents that disclose,” “documents sufficient to disclose,” or “documents sufficient to identify,” you must produce all documents that are necessary and sufficient to provide all of the information requested. If no single document contains all of the information sought, produce additional documents so that the group of documents, when viewed together, reveal the information sought. If tabulations, compilations, statistical accumulations, charts, computer printouts, or other summary materials that provide the information requested by a particular request are available or can be readily provided, these should be furnished with the underlying documents.

10. If any documents or items requested herein have been lost, discarded, destroyed, or are otherwise no longer in your possession, custody, or control, you shall identify them as completely as possible, including, without limitation, by providing the following information: (1) date of disposal; (2) manner of disposal; (3) reason for disposal; (4) person authorizing the disposal; and (5) person disposing of the item or document.
11. These requests for production and interrogatories are continuing. If you obtain or become aware of any additional documents or items responsive to these requests for production, or if you become aware of any additional facts responsive to these interrogatories, you are directed to produce such additional documents or inform OAG of such facts as they are obtained or become available.
12. Unless otherwise specified, these Requests for Production and Interrogatories cover the period from October 18, 2021 to the present.
